

The documentary "Stolen Honor" has been proven to be a one-sided partisan piece, rather than a historical piece that strives for accuracy.

For this reason, the format in which the segment is shown does nothing to lessen the inaccuracies that it will continue to purvey. The clips presented by this documentary are not news, and should not be presented as such.

There is a responsibility to protect audiences from misleading information. My feelings would be just as strong if clips of "Fahrenheit: 9/11" were being shown in the same forum, without someone to counter its claims.
